

A Small Piece of the World... The Bay Shore Story

Made to commemorate Bay Shore's Tricentennial, this moving 50 minute documentary tells the story of a hamlet that is beloved by its residents. By interviewing long time residents, local historians, and community leaders, Director Stephanie Walter Williams has sought to create an accurate portrait of a uniquely beautiful and diverse community that has both struggled and thrived over the past three centuries.

Thank you to all our interviewees and sponsors that have made this important film possible.
